If you don't want to mess with drag and drop, you can also change the category an article or subcategory is located in the editor. To do so:

- 1. Open the article or category you want to move for editing.
- 2. In the righthand column of the editor, find the Category section. If the section is collapsed, expand it.
- 3. To make the content a top-level category or article, select the trashcan icon (article editor) or the red X icon (category editor) to remove the category entirely. Be sure to Save after making this change!

4. To replace the current category with a different category, select the Change category button (article editor) or click the gear cog icon next to the category title (category editor).
