

New topic display category option: Hide category description

Last Modified on 05/10/2023 10:04 am EDT

By default, topic display categories show the category description just beneath the category's title, before displaying the content or intro article.

Now that the intro article exists, we've found it a bit redundant to have a category description AND an intro article there.

So we've added a new Display option to topic display categories so that you can choose to Hide description. [Previously, we'd suggested using a Snippet with some Custom CSS for this, which worked, but was just way too much work.]

See Topic display: Hide category description for more information!
