

Glossary styling overview

Last Modified on 06/22/2026 3:45 pm EDT

The Glossary consists of two key styling elements:

- The Glossary page itself: Refer to the instructions in Style the Glossary page.
- Glossary terms and definitions, which may appear directly within articles and categories or within your search results. Refer to the instructions in Style glossary terms & definitions.

Not sure which one to consider? View the samples below to get a feel for what you might customize.

For more information on setting up and using the glossary, refer to Glossary feature overview and Set up Glossary for more information.

Highlighted glossary terms get a double underline in articles and the definition will appear in a pop-up when readers hover over that term, for example, we've set up both of our mascot owls as glossary terms. Hover over either name below to view the definition:

KnowledgeOwl has two mascot owls: Linus and Athena.

You can adjust the double underline treatment and the on-hover pop-up for the definitions, as well as the look and feel when these terms and definitions are displayed in search results.
