

☒ New: Webhook, Slack, and email notifications for category events

Last modified on 07/07/2026 12:41 pm EDT

For some time now we've had Slack, email, and webhook notifications available for loads of events related to articles, commenting, and the contact form. These can be incredibly useful in staying up-to-date without having to context switch.

We've now expanded the notification option to include events that occur within categories. You can set up notifications for the following category-related changes:

- Category created
- Category deleted
- Category status updated
- Category updated

We've updated the available notification documentation to reflect these changes.

As always, if you have any questions about notifications, or anything else, please contact us.